COMMstellation

We like every week to bring what we call a Prophecy Update. We show how news and trends in the world are corroborating centuries-old prophecies found in the Bible.

Certain specific prophecies depend upon technologies that only recently have existed, or that are just about to be launched.

Perhaps the best example is the plight of the two witnesses described in the Revelation of Jesus Christ. The scene is mid-way through the future seven-year Great Tribulation. The antichrist has finally captured two witnesses who have previously been indestructible.

Listen to this, from Revelation chapter eleven

Revelation 11:3 And I will give power to my two witnesses, and they will prophesy one thousand two hundred and sixty days, clothed in sackcloth."

Revelation 11:5 And if anyone wants to harm them, fire proceeds from their mouth and devours their enemies. And if anyone wants to harm them, he must be killed in this manner.

Revelation 11:7 When they finish their testimony, the beast that ascends out of the bottomless pit will make war against them, overcome them, and kill them.

Revelation 11:8 And their dead bodies will lie in the street of the great city which spiritually is called Sodom and Egypt, where also our Lord was crucified.

Revelation 11:9 Then those from the peoples, tribes, tongues, and nations will see their dead bodies three-and-a-half days, and not allow their dead bodies to be put into graves.

Revelation 11:10 And those who dwell on the earth will rejoice over them, make merry, and send gifts to one another, because these two prophets tormented those who dwell on the earth.

Revelation 11:11 Now after the three-and-a-half days the breath of life from God entered them, and they stood on their feet, and great fear fell on those who saw them.

Revelation 11:12 And they heard a loud voice from heaven saying to them, "Come up here." And they ascended to heaven in a cloud, and their enemies saw them.

The thing to notice, what is truly amazing for the first century, is the idea that all those who dwell on the earth will be able to see this scene live as it unfolds. Only very recently has the technology existed to accomplish such a feat.

In fact, the technology for everyone on the planet to potentially see these events live is still not quite in place but it will be by 2015.

Microstat Systems Canada Incorporated has announced COMMstellation. Here is how they describe it on their website.<sup>1</sup>

COMMStellation is MSCl's name for our communications constellation that is being developed to help alleviate global backhaul issues and connect rural and remote areas of the world where fiber infrastructure is cost prohibitive.

COMMStellation is scheduled for launch in 2015.

MSCl's COMMStellation will orbit the earth at a height of 1,000 kilometers circling the earth in a polar orientation. The COMMStellation will be comprised of 78 micro-satellites in 6 orbital planes with an additional 6 redundant micro-satellites (1 per orbital plane). In its current configuration, COMMStellation will provide 100% global coverage with up to 15 times the speed and 10 times the total bandwidth capacity of a... constellation of comparable satellites.

Commenting on this one writer said,

Maybe the best way to describe this type of satellite system would be to think of the GPS networks of satellites but put high speed data transfer on them and have more of them in orbit. There will always be one or more satellites available for your communications device. Since the satellites are much closer to the earth they will communicate 10 to 20 times faster than the high altitude systems. There will not be the huge costs either, since the plan is to have 14 satellites launched on just one rocket. The whole system will be put up with just 6 rockets in 2014 or 2015. There will be coverage overlap and backup satellites so 100 percent of the globe will be covered all the time.<sup>2</sup>

A satellite system such as COMMstellation also makes it possible for another prophecy to be completely fulfilled. Couple this communication system with a computer chip or code in or on your own body that gives you access to the world market place and you have everything necessary to literally fulfill the buy/sell Bible prophecy of the dreaded mark of the beast.

I remind you that although we follow the fulfillment of Bible prophecy, we are not waiting for any prophecy to be fulfilled. Jesus promised to return to resurrect and rapture the church as an imminent event. By that we mean the certainty that He may come at any moment and the fact that no prophesied event stands between the believer and that hour.

Are you rapture-ready? If not, get ready, stay ready, and keep looking up.
Ready or not, Jesus is coming!
