Track Me if You Can

Each week we present what we call a prophecy update. We check the news for stories that seem to corroborate centuries old prophecies found in the Bible.

Some of the major categories that catch our attention are events in Israel, including plans to rebuild the Temple; the unification and rise of Europe as a world power; and the exponential growth of knowledge and technology, especially in the realm of creating a cashless global economy that you will access by a mark in your hand or forehead.

Several stories appeared this week that fit into the mark of the beast category. In Italy Vatican clergy and employees will be issued with an identity card complete with a microchip-tracking device in sweeping new security measures designed to prevent a repeat of the Vatileaks scandal.

Thousands of clerical and lay staff working inside the walls of the Vatican will be affected by the tighter scrutiny that will also enable their superiors to monitor when they clock in and out.

In Chicago Discover Financial Services Inc. employees will be able to pay by finger at their Riverwoods headquarters' cafeteria and convenience stores as they become the first to test a new payment system.

Discover employees who want to participate will register at an on-site kiosk, which will read an index fingerprint and assign a number to it. Each employee will also receive a key fob with a chip that includes information about their individual credit-card account as well as their fingerprint.

USA Technologies, a vendor of wireless, cashless payment, announced up to 7,500 vending machines in Austin and Salt Lake City will be targeted for mobile payment acceptance using the Isis Mobile Wallet, powered by NFC-enabled ePort technology.

Isis Mobile Wallet is expected to simplify the shopping and paying experience as consumers make vending machine purchases with a simple tap of their phone.

Austin, Texas, is using GPS technology to keep track of truancy-prone kids; so are Anaheim and Baltimore. An Illinois school district is using GPS to monitor children getting on and off the bus. In California, the Brittan Elementary School District spiked an RFID plan only after parents objected.

In West Cheshire College, Cheshire UK, “Students [are] made to carry locator tags as college staff and students have been issued with compulsory electronic badges that are capable of tracking their movements, leading to criticism of “Orwellian” tactics.”

Bible prophecy is coming true right before our eyes. The Bible predicted a cashless economy and personal identifiers for each person that would be required to conduct business. It's definitely happening.

Jesus could come for us, to resurrect and rapture His church, at any moment.

Are you rapture-ready? Get ready, stay ready, and keep looking up. Ready or not, Jesus is coming!
