

It Might be Today
"Are You Talking to Me?"
Prophecy Update #833

Here is what just happened in the Department of Energy.

"The Department of Energy has unveiled a national initiative to redefine the future of scientific discovery in America. It will unite the nation's most powerful supercomputers, decades of scientific data, breakthrough AI systems, and cutting-edge research tools into one extraordinary platform.

"For the first time, human ingenuity and machine intelligence will work side by side at unprecedented speed. National laboratories, top universities, and pioneering industries will join forces, forming a powerful coalition to confront the greatest scientific challenges of our time, energy, national security, new materials, advanced technologies, and beyond.

"This is more than an initiative. It is the opening chapter of a new era - an era in which American science surges forward, breakthroughs come faster, and the impossible becomes possible."

Do you know what they named it? It's the Genesis Mission. They are calling Genesis, "The dawn of a transformed future."

While we are on the subject of bad-naming, perhaps you have been reading about what they are calling real-time translation. Real-time translation is the process of converting spoken or written words from one language into another instantly, with little to no delay, so that two people who speak different languages can communicate as if they shared the same one. It happens live, while the person is speaking or typing, rather than after the fact.

It's not something we are waiting for; it's here. It's has already sparked debate over whether or not it will ever be necessary to learn a foreign language.

In an article on their website, a company called M+ said, "Imagine if, instead of crumbling from miscommunication, the Tower of Babel stood tall - supported by the perfect blend of humans and technology, working in harmony to bring clarity, empathy, and understanding back to the center of the conversation. We don't claim to have invented the Tower of Babel. We're just the ones rewriting the ending."

Choosing those names shows incredible arrogance before God. What do they have to do with Bible prophecy?

For one thing, they each promote globalism. They shrink the world by providing technology to draw closer together as one global village. And for one powerful leader to emerge.

In his recent book, Randy Kay writes, "For centuries, Revelation 13 sounded impossible. Today, it reads more like a headline. AI can impersonate anyone, deepfakes blur truth, biometric IDs, microchip implants, neural interfaces, programmable digital currencies, and global surveillance networks.

Kay asked AI to analyze biblical prophecy frameworks alongside modern events. He fed it Daniel's 70 weeks, the fig tree generation in Matthew 24, Israel's 1948 rebirth, Jewish sabbatical cycles, and today's geopolitical shifts. The Tribulation most plausibly falls between 2028 and 2032, with 2030 showing the most substantial alignment.

It's crazy! On the horizon is something called ASI - artificial super intelligence. All of the tech giants agree. The genie is out of the bottle and he can't be put back in.

How about this? A team of researchers in the US have been using ground-penetrating radar to scan the Durupinar Formation in Turkey, and they believe they have found evidence of Noah's Ark. This interests is because Jesus said that the End Times would be like it was during the time of Noah just before the flood. How much more like Noah can you get then discovering the Ark?

In the Silicon Valley, the headline reads, Genetically Engineered Babies Are Banned. Tech Titans Are Trying to Make One Anyway. Again this is something we expect because of the Bible's indications that mankind will be seeking to elevate itself to godhood by extending life and tampering with genetic material.

Think of it this way. Most people, including unbelievers, have a basic idea from the Bible that there will be a global government, global commerce & global religion. Instantaneous communication. The antichrist will rise to power. He will demand worship, which most will find acceptable. Commerce will be conducted by a mark. There will be a statue than seems to have life. It will enforce the antichrist agenda, capable of finding deserters and murdering them.

I should mention that Israel became a nation in one day, miraculously fulfilling many prophecies.

For the first time in human history the technological infrastructure that's necessary for so many of the prophecies to be fulfilled exists.

It's as if technology is advancing by what is prophesied

Not to worry; don't be anxious. God has give us the outline & the ending:

1. The Church will be resurrected & raptured.
2. The 7yr Time of Jacob's Trouble will prepare the Children of Israel to accept Jesus as Messiah.
3. The Lord returns in His Second Coming.
4. The Lord establishes a Kingdom on Earth that will last one-thousand years.

Are you ready? If not, get ready, stay ready, and keep looking up.

Ready or not, Jesus is coming!
